

Irish Television Crime Drama Symposium

National Film School &
Department of Humanities & Arts Management
Institute of Art, Design and Technology,
Dún Laoghaire, Co. Dublin.
November 27 & 28, 2014

Bringing academics, practitioners and policy-makers together, this conference provides a forum for an engaged and timely debate from diverse perspectives on television drama in Ireland in the 21st century.

- From the local to the global
- Art, aesthetic & narrative
- The real and the imagined.....

Love/Hate round table discussion – Thursday 6pm – 8pm
Debates / Panels / Q & A / Key-note – Friday 9am – 5.30pm

Speakers and participants confirmed to date:

Prof. Jonathan Bignell – University of Reading, Stuart Carolan - Love / Hate, John Connors - Actor, Paul Duane – Writer, Jane Gogan - RTÉ, Neasa Hardiman – Director, James Hickey - Irish Film Board, Dr. Conn Holohan - NUIG, Eoghan Harris - Writer, James Mavor – Writer, Suzanne McAuley - Love / Hate, Eoin McNamee – Writer, Máire Ní Chonláin Commissioning Editor - TG4, Ciarán O Cofaigh – Producer, Prof Eva Novrup Redvall – University of Copenhagen, Dr. Lindsay Steenberg, Oxford Brookes University.

This conference will be of interest to students, researchers, academics, practitioners and policy-makers in the field of television drama, film and media studies.

Registration details for full event:

Full rate – €40 / Concession & Student rate - €15
Fee includes tea / coffee & light lunch on Friday
Location – Atrium Building - A019

Further information or to register please contact:

carol.mackeogh@iadt.ie or diog.oconnell@iadt.ie